

BUILDING THE FORTRESS: CATHOLICS IN PROVINCIAL TOWNS, 1778-1840

SATURDAY 13 OCTOBER 2018

This one day conference explores the experience of Catholic lay men and women of the poor, working and middle class. Professor Michael Mullett of Lancaster University will preside and talk about Welsh town Catholics. Other talks will cover Liverpool, Newcastle on Tyne, Wigan and the West Midlands. There will be short presentations, key speakers and the opportunity to share enthusiasm in an informal atmosphere.

This event is open to everyone with an interest in Catholic History, participation by anyone actively engaged in research or study of the subject will be especially welcome.
